AFRO-AMERICAN HISTORY MONTH NOTED AT LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

The Library of Congress is marking Afro-American History Month and Black History Week, February 9-15, with an exhibit on the "Resources at LC for the Study of Negro Life and History" and with a talk by Sylvia Lyons Render, Specialist in Afro-American History and Culture in the Manuscript Division.

The exhibit examines the Library's resources for studying the colonial period, slavery, the American Colonization Society, the abolitionist movement, the Civil War, Frederick Douglass, Booker T. Washington, the National Urban League, the NAACP, and literary figures of the 19th and 20th centuries. Aside from the general collections, the principal locations of these resources in the Library include the Manuscript, Prints and Photographs, and Rare Books Divisions, and the Recorded Sound Section of the Music Division. The exhibit will remain on view until February 28 on the left stairway leading from the west entrance of the Main Building to the Main Reading Room, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Saturday, 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Mrs. Render will speak on "Afro-American Women: The Outstanding and the Obscure" in a program sponsored by the Federal Women's Program in the Whittall Pavilion on February 27 from 11:45 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. The theme of Afro-American History Month for 1975, "Fulfilling America's Promise," was also covered in a television program Mrs. Render taped for educational station WDCN-TV, Nashville; it was broadcast on February 10. On February 13 and 14, Mrs. Render addressed the students and staff of Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro.

FRITZ KREISLER HONORED IN LIBRARY EXHIBIT

Fritz Kreisler—born in Vienna on February 2, 1875, died in New York on January 29, 1962—was one of the great personalities of the 20th century. He impressed millions of music lovers with his highly individual interpretations and his infinitely charming compositions. As a violinist he was unique, and as a man he was loved by all who knew him and heard him.

The Library of Congress has mounted an exhibit in honor of Fritz Kreisler's 100th birthday. The Library's association with the artist began in 1949, when he presented two rare manuscripts to the Music Division, Brahms' Violin Concerto and Chausson's Poème for violin and orchestra. These scores may be seen in the display. Three years later, in 1952, Mr. Kreisler in person brought and donated to the Library his Guarneri del Gesù violin, made in 1733 and one of the finest instruments in existence. This is now on permanent display in the Whittall Pavilion. When three more years had passed, he gave the Library a large collection of his own manuscripts of original

Varying from his classical String Quartet to his lighter and ever popular Viennese melodies, these autographs vividly reflect an artist and a man whose career spanned the world. BALSAM AND TOTENBERG CONCERT SCHEDULED FOR FEBRUARY 21

On Friday evening, February 21, the McKim Fund in the Library of Congress will sponsor a concert of chamber music for violin and piano. The artists will be Roman Totenberg, violin, and Artur Balsam, piano. Mr. Totenberg is the head of the string department of the Boston University School of Fine Arts. Mr. Balsam has appeared at the Library many times as an assisting artist. This duo has celebrated the 40th anniversary of their first performance together in Berlin. Their program will include: Sonata No. 2 in D minor, Op. 121 by Robert Schumann; Sonata No. 2 by Darius Milhaud; Sonata No. 2, Op. 28 by Albert Roussel; and Sonata in F major, Op. 57 by Antonín Dvořák.

This concert will begin promptly at 8:30 p.m. in the Coolidge Auditorium of the Library. Tickets will be distributed by Patrick Hayes, 1300 G St., N.W., beginning at 8:30 a.m., on Monday, February 17. A service charge of 25 cents is placed on each ticket, and only two tickets are distributed to an individual. Telephone reservations may be made on Monday morning by calling 393-4463. Mail orders are not accepted.

This concert will be broadcast live and in its entirety by Station WETA-FM, and later made available to stations in other cities through the Katie and Walter Louchheim Fund in the Library of Congress.

STORAGE AREA CREATED IN 36-YEAR-OLD ANNEX

"An underground mud pie factory?" "An indoor track for dirt bikes?" "More CRS office spaces?" "A tunnel to the Madison Building?" These were some of the comments made by people waiting for the Annex elevators in the cellar who could see workmen hauling wheelbarrows of dirt between the pairs of elevators and disappearing behind a green door.

Actually, the men were getting the dirt from trucks in the Annex parking area below 3rd St., S.E., and taking it into the southwest cellar area under the Photoduplication Service Laboratory. This dirt was used to fill in and level the area for a future concrete floor. The finished area will be used by the Architect of the Capitol as a storage area. This storage project by the Architect began on December 1.

The northern half of the Annex cellar was completed several years ago and is used by the Library as a storage area. With the increased value of storage space it has become practical after 36 years of the building's existence to reclaim areas of the unfinished foundations.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY OBSERVED BY LIBRARY

The Library will observe Washington's birthday on Monday, February 17. Service will be available from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Congressional Reading Room, Main Reading Room, Annex Reading Room, Law Library Reading Room, Local History and Genealogy Room, Microform Reading Room, National Exhibit halls in the Main Building will be open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday, February 16, and from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Monday, February 17.

C. Sumner Spalding, Assistant Director (Cataloging) of the Processing Department since 1968, retired on January 29 after more than 32 years of Federal service, most of it with the Library of Congress.

As an authority on cataloging and catalog control, Mr. Spalding served the Library of Congress with distinction in a number of capacities, beginning in 1940 as a music cataloger and subsequently serving as Assistant Chief and Chief of the Catalog Maintenance Division, Chief of the Serial Record Division, Chief of the Descriptive Cataloging Division, and finally, Assistant Director (Cataloging), for which he received the Library's coveted and rarely conferred Distinguished Service Award. As Assistant Director (Cataloging), Mr. Spalding directed the Library's complex and burgeoning cataloging program.

The Acting Librarian and Mr. Spalding

Mr. Spalding was born in Somerville, Mass., and educated at Harvard University where he earned bachelors and masters degrees in 1933 and 1934 respectively. He received a library science degree from Columbia University in 1940.

Mr. Spalding represented the Library of Congress at the 1961 International Conference on Cataloguing Principles in Paris, where the internationally accepted

Gerri Griffith Reichard, grandniece of pioneer motion picture director D. W. Griffith, visited the Library on January 22 to view the current exhibit "D. W. Griffith: A Centenary of His Birth." Mrs. Reichard was accompanied by her husband, Ken, and came to Washington from New York City where she was present at the unveiling of the D. W. Griffith postage stamp at the Museum of Modern Art. Mrs. Reichard has generously loaned the Oscar received by Griffith in 1935 from the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences to the Library for the current exhibit.

principles of choice and form of entry were adopted. He was later chosen to serve as general editor of the Anglo-American Cataloging Rules, based on these Paris principles. Following publication of the AACR, Mr. Spalding received the Margaret Mann Citation, the highest award in cataloging and classification offered by the American Library Association.

In 1969 Mr. Spalding represented the Library of Congress at the International Meeting of Cataloguing Experts in Copenhagen, Denmark, where the machinery was set in motion for a series of International Standard Bibliographic Descriptions.

Mr. Spalding has represented the Library at a wide variety of other professional meetings and forums nationally and internationally through the years. For many years he served as the Library's representative to the U.S. Board on Geographic Names (BGN), an interagency organization responsible for providing uniformity in geographic nomenclature and orthography throughout the Federal Government. At the time of his retirement, Mr. Spalding was the chairman of BGN.

Mr. Spalding is the author of numerous articles on cataloging and catalog control, has written and arranged numerous musical compositions, and has served as a church organist and choir director.

Approximately 400 friends and associates gathered in the Coolidge Auditorium on Wednesday, January 29, to pay tribute to Mr. Spalding upon his retirement. The program included a performance by the Library's Choral Society of Mr. Spalding's arrangement of "Bold Wolfe" as well as a performance of Beethoven's "In Praise of Music," the reading of two poems written for the occasion, an audiovisual presentation of his life and times, and the presentation of the Distinguished Service Award by Acting Librarian of Congress, John G. Lorenz.

Following retirement from the Library, Mr. Spalding will serve as consultant to the American Library Association's Catalog Code Revision Committee and will continue to pursue his musical interests.
